

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: August 24, 2015

Virginia Lieto

Lieto Publishing

(704) 454-7561

ginny@virginialieto.com

Do you know a child or grandchild who needs to learn patience?

Harrisburg, North Carolina: Adventures of Faith, Hope, and Charity – Finding Patience is a book for children ages 4-8, who need to learn the value of being patient. This book teaches children that virtues are graces that come from God. He will never say no to a request for a virtue such as patience. For children, it is difficult to wait for anything! It is through prayer that Faith, the oldest of three sisters, learns how God works within her, in His time, to help her grow in patience.

What sets this book apart is that God is at the center of this story, with actual children learning patience; not inanimate objects, so often depicted in other children's books. The human need for patience brings a deeper, more relatable dimension to this book. Parents, educators and children will be enriched by the experience.

Virginia Lieto expertly brings God to the forefront of this book, educating children in a lively and compelling way.

- Patricia Ireland Ph.D.
Dean of Undergraduate Studies and Director of the Theology Program
Saint Joseph's College of Maine

Adventures of Faith, Hope, and Charity – Finding Patience offers parents and educators a practical way of introducing and reinforcing patience through the power of prayer. The content of this book is backed by Ms. Lieto's Master of Arts Degree in Pastoral Theology from Saint Joseph's College of Maine. The book is available for sale in paperback at Amazon and Createspace, and as an e-book through Amazon and Barnes and Noble. You can obtain more information by visiting the online Media Kit.

Virginia Lieto is an adjunct professor for Saint Joseph's College of Maine, a public speaker, and a blogger at www.virginialieto.com. This is her first in a series of books dedicated to teaching children the virtues. Ms. Lieto lives in Harrisburg, NC with her husband, Nick.

Keywords: Patience, children, book | Category: Christian Broadcasts